Benefits of a Communications Degree

The Associate in Arts degree program in Communications is designed specifically to give students a strong introduction to the media landscape, so that they are able to easily transfer earned credits to pursue a four-year bachelor degree in communications, media studies, or journalism.

The program will allow students to explore the many areas of the communications industry. Coursework is centered on media writing and critical thinking, and students will also gain practical experience through a required internship.

Upon completion of the program, students will be prepared to transfer to a bachelor degree program at a college or university, and will also have an understanding of the varied career paths they may choose.

Estimated cost of program Tuition and *fees only:

- In-State $15,196
- NE Regional $20,026
- Out-of-State $30,380
